

News feed

PALOS VERDES PENINSULA

New Land Conservancy director named

Susan Wilcox has been appointed development director of the Palos Verdes Peninsula Land Conservancy.

Wilcox, who has spent more than 24 years working in fundraising as associate dean for advancement at USC's Dornsife College, will oversee the fundraising activities of the conservancy as well as marketing, communications and community outreach events.

She also founded Cinema Grand, a nonprofit group that presented cultural and educational events at the historic Warner Grand Theatre in San Pedro.

An avid hiker and longtime Palos Verdes Peninsula-area resident, Wilcox is familiar with the conservancy's work to create and maintain trails and open space.

— Donna Littlejohn