2018 third grade program volunteer docent

Are you interested in sharing your love of nature with young people? Join us!

what: You will lead four lessons about the natural environment to a class of third graders at a local South Bay school. On the fifth and final visit, you will lead the children on a walking field trip to explore a natural environment near their school.

who: You will teach the lessons while the classroom teacher provides support with classroom management and organization. During the field trip, you will be supported by a Conservancy naturalist, the classroom teacher(s), and a team of parent volunteers.

how: You will be provided with an easy to use, pre-planned curriculum and boxed kit that includes all of the lesson plans, materials, books, illustrations, samples, and specimens necessary for teaching the lessons.

training: Depending on your level of experience, you may choose to attend a half day training session, or you may shadow a current docent during her lesson and/or fieldtrip to learn how to run the program.
